Tharkad bombed

Word of Blake plans to destroy the Houses were compromised and some nations had time to prepare for their assaults. The Dragoon fleet, ready for the Word of Blake assault, held them off at great cost. Several Free Worlds League ships stayed loyal to the League and the skies over Atreus exploded into a fight that decimated both forces. The capitals on New Avalon, Tharkad, and Luthien were bombarded by heavy Word of Blake fleets, though the defensive rings around each planet, especially around Luthien, bled the Word of Blake fleets badly. Samantha, the capital city of Taurus, was smashed by asteroid bombardment.

3068 – With their forces drained more than expected, the Word of Blake quickly realized they were unable to cleanse the Inner Sphere as they had planned. They adapted. HPG messages were sent to various systems ordering them to abandon the Houses or die. Systems that didn't agree felt the fires of orbital bombardment when the next fleet traveled through, and that information was broadcast for all to see. Those that went independent or otherwise agreed to let the Houses hang in the wind were left to live in peace while the Wobblies went on to more important enemies.

In Free Worlds League space, information that Thomas Marik was a fake leaked by Word of Blake. Parliament, already on the verge of removing him, succeeded in doing so when even the Stewart and Marik representatives stopped supporting him. Free Worlds League effectively split into the major political blocks of the time and Word of Blake forces concentrated on the Marik Commonwealth.

Federation of Skye and Tamar Pact seceded from Lyran Alliance. New Syrtis declined to side with New Avalon and went independent. Clan Jade Falcon attacked the Alliance and the Tamar Pact. Clan Wolf attacked Free Rasalhague Republic.

In Capellan space, many systems joined the Styke Commonality rather than be part of a House supposedly allied with the Wobblies. Sarna Supremacy and numerous systems once a part of the old Sarnan government seceded from the Capellan Confederation.

In the Chaos March, the Tikonov Free Republic joined up with the Dragoons, Highlanders, and the Allied Mercenary Command to fight the Wobblies close to Terra while the Star League fleets tried to engage and stop the Word of Blake fleets.

3069 – Wobbly forces destroyed the factories built on Detroit by the Magistracy and Concordat. A full regiment of Magistracy BattleMechs lost on Detroit, and the Wobbly force split up to march across Magistracy and Taurian space. St. Ives seceded from the Capellan Confederation, still untouched by the Wobbly Jihad.

With a Wobbly fleet bearing down on it, Robinson announced the toppling of Tancred Sandoval as the Duke of Robinson. Another Sandoval stepped forward to take the reigns and formally removed the Robinson Republic from the Federated Suns.

3070 – Wobbly forces smashed into the Marian Hegemony near Circinus, badly mauling the Aquilum Legion. Another force hit Alphard, killing Elena Logan and Caesar Julius O'Reilly. Emperor David Gladding took over the defense of the realm. Magistracy and Concordat in chaos as Wobbly forces moved from system to system, destroying everything that fought them. Wobbly forces moved into Outworlds Alliance.

Regulan fleet turned Gibson into a glass exportation source with massed nuclear bombardment. Oriente and Marik fleets decimated while fighting a major action over Marik. Marik bombarded. Wobbly forces continued to shatter all comers in Lyran, Davion, and Combine space. Archon Peter-Steiner Davion assassinated. General Adam Steiner becomes new Archon.

Hell's Horses invaded Clan Wolf Occupation Zone in September. Wobbly forces finally moved on the weakened Capellan Confederation, shattering its main fleet in combat over Victoria.

3071 – With most of the Hegemony in shambles, the Wobblie forces moved on Pryde Rock to deal with the ComStar factory there, but met a heavier than expected resistance from Leonis and Martina Victrix Legions. Wobblie force destroyed. At Canopus IV and Illiushin in Magistris and Taurian space, heavy concentrations of AeroSpace and BattleMech forces, including the TCW Vandenburg over Illiushin, stopped the Wobblie forces in their realms. Clan Snow Raven moved into the Alliance and stopped the Wobblie force there cold.

ComStar/Star League fleet finally tracked down and shattered a Wobblie fleet over Dieron and Galax. Heavy losses on each side, and the factories were written off after heavy bombardment. Wobblie forces continued to ravage Houses Liao, Steiner, Davion, Marik, and the Combine.

Jade Falcon and Hell's Horses incursions continued. Vlad Ward and his flagship died over Csesztreg in September, trying to hold off a Hell's Horses assault. Ghost Bear Dominion joined the war with an assault on Clan Wolf holdings near the Free Rasalhague Republic and the Periphery in December.

3072 – Wobblie forces in the Marik Commonwealth finally defeated by a joint Marik-Stewart-Oriente-Regular force. Anduriens invaded Capellan Confederation to regain their worlds. ComStar/Star League fleet destroyed last Wobblie fleets in the Federated Suns.

Phelan Kell's Wolves-in-Exile moved into Clan Wolf space to keep them from totally collapsing under the two-prong assault of Ghost Bears and Hell's Horses. "Clan Snord" made itself known in stopping a major Hell's Horses push on Persistence and began building up a defensive cordon around the Dark Nebula. Melissa Theater defenses collapsed.

March 3073 – Jade Falcon incursion stopped as they "reallocated" their units to handle Hell's Horses and Clan Snord assaults.

May 3073 – First major battle over Terra, with the Federated Suns fleet supporting the ComStar/Star League fleet.

December 3073 – A smaller fleet moved into Lyran space to help them against the Wobblie fleet and the Jade Falcons. Wolves-in-Exile reintegrated into Clan Wolf after stopping the main Hell's Horses assault. Ghost Bear Dominion assaults on Clan Wolf ended.

3074 – Last Wobblie forces in Lyran Alliance decimated. Second major battle over Terra. Clan Wolf assaulted the Jade Falcons, taking numerous worlds that were once part of the Tamar Pact.

3075 – Word of Blake forces left the decimated Draconis Combine to support Terra as the full force of the Star League began to weigh down on it. Third major battle over Terra. Clan Jade Falcon halts the Hell's Horses' incursion into their territory.

3076 – The fourth major battle over Terra in the Word of Blake Jihad took place between the last of the Word of Blake fleets and the surviving Star League fleets. Word of Blake defeated and the ground war for Terra began.

3078 – April, Terra pacified and Word of Blake declared defeated by the Star League. The member nations of the Star League turned back to deal with the concerns about their breakaway provinces only to find that they were too weak to enforce their will.

3079 – Prince George Hasek of New Syrtis tried to get the production of St. Ives the old fashioned way. Conquering armies. The war that followed encompassed every Capellan Rump State and even the Taurian Concordat and Tikonov Free Republic, pushing the Syrtis Federation military to the brink of defeat.

3080 – Marian Hegemony and Duchy of Tamarind-Abbey attacked the Lyran Commonwealth's StarCorps Supremacy.

3081 – Tikonov Free Republic enters the St. Ives War.

3083 – The Trinity War, fought between the Trinity Alliance, Duchy of Andurien, and Capellan Confederation, began on Mendham between the Trinity Alliance and the Confederation.

3084 – War with the StarCorps Supremacy ended with the capture of Son Hoa and Dixie by joint forces of the Hegemony and Duchy.

3085 – Tikonov captured in January. Styk took the Chesterton Worlds in February. St. Ives War ended late in the year. Duchy of Andurien attacked the Capellan Confederation.

3086 – Oriente Protectorate officially formed.

3087 – Warlord Kiyomori Minamoto, with the blessings of Coordinator Takashi Ricol, moved to take over the Nova Cat Prefecture. The Nova Cats fought back harder than expected, and even the Rasalhague Dominion, Clan Sea Fox elements in the area, and the Arkab Legions stepped in to defend the Nova Cats, starting the Second Dominion-Combine War.

3090 – With the Robinson Republic sending heavy raids across the border into Combine space, and losses against the Dominion and Nova Cats mounting, the Combine finally sued for peace, ending the Second Dominion-Combine War. The Draconis Combine officially recognized the Nova Cat Clan and the Azami as being independent. Warlord Minamoto directed by Coordinator Ricol to commit seppuko for his failure. Tamar Pact officially seceded from the combined Skye/Tamar state.

3093 –Trinity War ended over Mendham with the defeat of the Capellan Second Fleet.

3094 – Duchy of Orloff joins the Oriente Protectorate.

3097 – Capellan Confederation invades FWL to show its strength, taking several systems.

In 3100, the major realms of the Inner Sphere are locked in a giant Piranha Principle Dilemma. They cannot conquer anyone else without risking their own destruction.
